

| Vertical Reinforcing Specification |  |
|------------------------------------|--|
| Rebar Size                         |  |
| Starter Bar Length                 |  |
| Embedded Length of Starter Rebar   |  |
| Coupler Size                       |  |
| Main Bar Length                    |  |
| Washer / Nut Size                  |  |
| Epoxy Type                         |  |

INTERBLOC® Bunker Wall Cross Section
 Vertical Reinforcing - Standard Kits

|                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  ENVIROCONCAPTURING CONCRETE EXCESSENVIROBUILD INTERBLOC | TITLE: INTERBLOC® Bunker Wall Cross Section                          | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Drawn by Sam Salari</li> <li>• Checked by Osama Mughrabi</li> <li>• Approved by</li> <li>• Scale @ A4 1:300</li> <li>• Date 26/03/2025</li> <li>• Sheet IB</li> </ul> |
|                                                                                                                                                                     | www.envirocon.co.nz         www.envirobuild.co.nz         Phone: 0800 468 375 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                |